The DIMMER VIEW

The Water Battle Starts

Hapless Californians are deeply concerned about the smothering influence state government exercises over their existence.

Most attention has been focused on taxing agencies, ecologists, land-use bureaus, coastal control commissions, zoning officials, planning experts, flood control authorities, and controlled-growth disciples—but everyone is looking in the wrong direction.

A battle is in full flower but so well-hidden that few people are aware of it. And those who know of it do not realize the impact it will have over every segment of their existence after the winners finally emerge.

And that's a shame since the winners will control completely every mother's son in this green and golden state.

The winners will decide not only how and where you live but, if indeed, you can live in California at all.

The fight is for the control of the state's water. Seeking that control is the County Board of Supervisors.

There are several seemingly unrelated actions in the works toward that end right now. There's Title 208, the California Water and Quality Management Plan which has $1.2 million available to help solve water pollution problems in this area. County water experts say pollution problems are miniscule, if indeed, any exists at all.

Previously, State Sen. James R. Mills had blasted the uselessness of the Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO) and urged that it be merged with the Local Agency Formation Council. CPO was originally formed for regional planning but has grown into other assorted activities. The merger, when it comes, will tighten up supervisory control.

LAFCO was designed for annexations and deannexations to make common boundaries for districts and cities so that a new city, such as Lemon Grove, would not have district boundaries hop-scotching all over the place.

Several years ago when Dick Brown was supervisor, much of his effort was exerted on controlled-growth activities. San Diego Council of Government (SANCOC) was a forerunner of CPO and of that philosophy. When he left County government by deciding not to seek re-election, he left all of the machinery there. His controlled-growth theory drew considerable heat at that time and is probably one of the reasons for his decisions.

San Diego City under Mayor Pete Wilson got in on the controlled-growth act. More heat. Neither the council nor the supervisors want that much heat but they do want growth under control.

That's why Title 208 is important. It could put water control in the hands of the supervisors and another layer of county government between the rulers and the public.

During last year's drought, Supervisor Lucille Moore at a Lemon Grove incorporation meeting, made a point that conservation of water was vital to the Board of Supervisors. She indicated that water... reclaimed water, storm water and "even puddles" should be controlled by supervisors.

Our assessment is that growth can be controlled absolutely and without political heat if developers and individual home builders could be turned down because "there is not water available."

That would skyrocket rents and home ownership would be even further from the reach of young and growing families than it is now. Assessed values would go into orbit. Perhaps that's one reason why government is trying to scuttle the Jarvis-Gann Prop. Assessed valuation rises bring money to county spenders.

By the simple expedient of not scheduling water mains where developers want to build, projects would collapse.

Now back to the early construction-controlling agencies. They are already making the cost of construction unreasonably high by demanding such things as park-land payments, underground utilities, deeding part of the property for future roads, bicycle lanes and installation of fire hydrants, to mention a few.

If the water quality management plan is put into operation without dissent, the quality of water of the 23 local water agencies of the County Water Authority would come under the control of the provisions of the Act.

County government operates several control agencies which would be "naturals" for overseeing quality control of water.

If and when this happens the pots won't have to take the heat. A simple "no water there" would suffice.

Now the whole affair gets an official look. It is on the agenda for a CPO decision at 8:30 a.m. May 15 in the Silver Room of the Community Concourse.

If approved you might hear this conversation between a citizen wanting to construct a house and a clerk in the water quality control agency. Imagine this dialogue: Applicant: "I want to build a house out there. When can I get water?" WQCA: "After there is enough demand for it—if there is water of good quality available." Appl.: "But only an idiot would build without assurance of water!" WQCA: "That may be so but we do not question any applicant's IQ." Appl.: "I can't get a building permit without a water line to the property?" WQCA: "You might if enough of you build houses there."

If you think it won't happen, read these "news releases" issued a couple of days ago by the public information department of the County of San Diego:

April 20, 1978

"Major San Diego regional problems have not been identified in the State's 208 Water Management Plan and in the 208 Environmental, Social and Economic Assessment (ESEA)."

"This was the consensus of a County of San Diego staff task force, which reported its findings to the Board of Supervisors."

"The report indicated that the 208 Plan does not provide acceptable analysis of transportation, land use, air quality, water, economic and social impacts. The task force reported that real regional problems cannot be assessed due to inadequate information and that the plan may not be appropriate to solve major problems."

"The highly complex 208 Plan, extremely important for this region, has impacts on water quality, sewage capacity, growth management, transportation and air quality. It influences regional resources management and the entire structure of local government."

"The Board of Supervisors unanimously accepted the task force's comments and instructed the Board's Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO) delegate, Supervisor Roger Hedgecock, to personally deliver the report, by cover letter, to CPO."

Supervisor Hedgecock was also instructed to ask that all local agencies and the public be allowed to comment on the 208 Plan and ESEA through at least May 5, 1978, the deadline for State comments."

LG School District Awarded $150,000 in Impact Aid

The Lemon Grove School District will receive a $75,000 to $100,000 check from the federal government for the local share of Federal Impact Aid. Dr. Robert Sutton, District Superintendent, reported to the LG Board of Trustees on Tuesday night the figure may be boosted to $150,000.

The Superintendent was in Washington, D.C. last week conferring with the local Congressional delegation on the status of the impact aid bill.

According to Dr. Sutton, supplemental legislation is planned on the initial appropriation. This legislation will be passed during the 1978-79 school year to up the total to $150,000.

Lemon Grove counts on Federal Impact Aid funding to finance the education of some 650 students who come from families employed by the U.S. government.

Dr. Sutton also reported the findings of Administrative Judge John A. Willd of Los Angeles in the hearing to determine the LG District's right to fire four teachers.

Judge Willd ruled the local district was within their rights to dismiss the teachers on the grounds of declining enrollment.

In action taken by the Board in Tuesday's meeting:

—The board signed the agreement with SNAP to grant two $5,000 grants to the Monterey Heights and Golden Avenue Community Schools.

—The board also approved the operational guidelines for site councils to be set up with AB-65 monies.

—The board also signed an agreement with the Lemon Grove City Council to begin construction of new lights at Lemon Grove Junior High.

—And the board also voted to give to the school's employees a free checking account plan offered through Lemon Grove Crocker Bank manager Robert Guest.

Convention Set for May '6

190th Presbyterian Conference Faces Tough Policy Issues

Decisions affecting at least half a dozen major areas of the church's life and mission will face commissioners to the 190th United Presbyterian General Assembly when they begin their deliberations here May 16.

Questions dealing with ordination, social witness, inter-church relations, ministry with youth, involvement in electronic media, and the church's governing and funding, will come before approximately 650 voting delegates to the denomination's highest policy-making body. Preliminary work will be done in 15 committees, which then will present recommendations to be approved, altered, or declined by the General Assembly in plenary sessions.

Most highly publicized of the issues is that of whether self-affirming, practicing homosexual persons should be eligible for ordination as ministers and lay officers in the denomination.

A task force which studied the subject for two years has recommended that presbyteries (area governing bodies) be allowed to decide for themselves on ministerial ordination involving homosexual persons; presbyteries historically have determined who is to be ordained to the ministry.

Similarly, congregations would be free to decide on the ordination of such persons to the offices of ruling elder and deacon.

A minority report filed with the task force asks that the General Assembly, acting in its judicial capacity, rule that the church's constitution prohibits all such ordinations.

A dozen overtures (petitions for action) and three resolutions (statements of position) had been submitted by presbyteries or synods (regional administrative units) early this month in opposition to the task force majority's recommendations.

Before and after dealing with the ordination issue, however, commissioners will vote their convictions on a number of questions regarding the denomination's mission and ministry.

Several resolutions which would apply previously-established policy to specific situations are proposed in connection with the church's social witness. If approved, the resolutions would:

— Call upon agencies of the General Assembly to withdraw funds and close accounts with financial institutions which have investments in South Africa.

— Ask major negotiating parties in the Middle East to facilitate self-determination by the Palestinians, urge the Palestinian leaders to commit themselves to peaceful settlement through negotiation, and ask the United States government to reaffirm its opposition to any permanent settlements in occupied lands.

— Ask members and institutions of the church to refrain from buying products of the J. P. Stevens Company until that firm gives evidence that it is no longer in violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

— Encourage the U.S. government to conclude and ratify the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty, the Chemical Ban Treaty, and the second Strategic Arms Limitations Treaty.

— Support the work of the Ecumenical Coalition of the Mahoning Valley in its efforts to revive the economy of that area, and support possible investment of funds in those efforts.

A proposed new policy statement entitled "The Family Farm" will be presented, growing out of a study initiated two years ago.

Among aspects of family farms dealt with in the paper are price and income policies, tax policy, credit, environmental and conservation policies, government services, limitations on large corporate farms, aids to marginal and subsistence farms, and self-help efforts.

Actions in relation to other churches will focus primarily on the possibility of reunion with the southern-based Presbyterian Church U.S. A third study draft of a plan for union will be presented to this Assembly and that of the Presbyterian Church U.S. with recommendations that the draft plan be sent to all presbyteries for study and comment. If the Assemblies agree the plan also will be sent to all pastors in the two denominations.

Recommendations aimed at helping the denomination deal with controversial issues are part of a report from a Committee on Pluralism, established by the 1976 General Assembly. After a broadscale study, the committee proposes that:

— A special section be added to the Manual of the General Assembly, with "guiding principles and concrete suggestions as to how extremely provocative issues can be moderated so as to prevent premature, and therefore unhealthy, resolution."

— Efforts be made to have all candidates for the ministry of the church—many of whom are graduated from non-Presbyterian seminaries—come under the care of presbyteries before beginning their theological education, in order to ensure their understanding of the denomination's government and traditions.

— A study be undertaken through the Advisory Council on Discipleship and Worship leading toward guidelines for the use of Scripture in theological controversies.

— Changes be made so that the General Assembly's Moderator (highest elective official of the church) would be chosen at the end, rather than at the beginning, of the meeting of the Assembly and would preside at the meeting of the following year.

Other proposals for changes in the Assembly and the church government include a study of whether biennial meetings of the policy-setting body would be more desirable than annual sessions, and abolishment of a per-member apportionate system used to pay for the ecclesiastical functions of various church entities.

Five presbyteries have submitted overtures aimed at reestablishing the denomination's work in the fields of television and radio.

The church did extensive work in electronic media for some years, before declining funds resulted in virtual elimination of the service. The proposals call either for outright reestablishing of the work, or for a special study toward that end.

The election of a Moderator of the 190th General Assembly will be among the first actions of commissioners at San Diego. Seven candidates have been endorsed by their presbyteries, making the field one of the largest in recent years.

Host to the General Assembly will be the Presbytery of San Diego, which was formed in 1968. One of the first actions of the presbytery, reports Presbytery Executive Casper I. Glenn, was to invite the 1978 Assembly to meet there.

All business sessions of the Assembly will be in the San Diego Convention and Performing Arts Center.

DANIEL MEYER-ABBOTT will return to Lemon Grove Methodist Church on Sunday to perform his impersonation of novelist Mark Twain. The church will host a pot luck dinner at 6 p.m. Donations for the program are 75 cents per person or $2 per family and it will begin in the church, 3205 Washington street, at 7 p.m.

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Wants to strike back

Q. During our married years on and off my husband had a night out with the boys and I never objected.

Finally, his night with the boys became weekends with the boys. He drank and life was hell with him. Well, I found out he was visiting the apartment of a divorcee.

They both claimed there was nothing but a good friendship and that his visits were only to have a drink together.

It's hard to believe that a man would lie, cheat and connive just to have a drink with a woman. He has stopped acting the way he was and is really trying to make amends, but I am heartbroken.

I feel cheated, violated and sometimes I wish I could strike back and hurt him the way he hurt me. I think it night and day and am very nervous. Please help me.

A. To strike back in kind at your husband would only cause you more anguish, and such a procedure is therefore inadvisable. If you are nervous now, by doing what you suggest you could bring an emotional breakdown.

Since your husband has stopped his reprehensible actions and is really trying to make amends, the best thing you can do is to give him a chance. And try believing that he is sincere. Remember that belief in a person often leads to realization of such belief.

The best advice is to put the past behind you both and start over again. Real happiness can result.

Back to the junk food

Q. I belong to Overeaters Anonymous, which is a three-fold program for the physical, emotional and spiritual.

They ask you to turn your compulsive overeating over to God, to work the spiritual and emotional part of the program, and the physical part will follow.

I feel I'm working the program but I keep going back to my old way of eating, which is junk foods all the time.

Do you think I'm not using my higher power, which is God, in the right manner? Can you help me?

A. Having myself reduced by 35 pounds and further having kept that reduction for over two years, I know from experience that one can definitely control weight.

If you image or picture yourself as being at a certain designated weight figure, your consciousness will help achieve your image. When you return constantly to what you call "junk foods" you are certainly not employing your higher power.

We have a booklet, "Live Longer Better," which may be helpful to you, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us in care of Box 599, Pawling, NY 12564.

What to do?

Q. What to do, stay home with my mother or go and stay with my children's father who wants to marry me? I was 17 and he was only 18 when I ran away from home and went to stay with him. Things didn't work out because we were just too young.

I love him so much and want to spend my life with him, and he loves me.

My mother doesn't want me to have anything to do with him. But if I stay home I can't ever see him, and our two children will never know their father. If I go to him I can't come home any more. What shall I do?

A. If you have two children by a man not your husband and he wants to marry you, which he should if he is any kind of man at all, then definitely you should marry him and properly take care of your children.

If you love him and he loves you, then there is a good possibility of building a satisfying home life together. While we can understand why your mother does not think well of this man, still you cannot let your mother call the shots.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Applications Due for CowBelles Scholarship

The San Diego County CowBelles, the auxiliary to the San Diego County Cattlemen's Association, is looking for college students who need money.

Each year the CowBelles award a memorial scholarship to a student whose major is in some phase of agriculture or a directly related field such as animal science, agribusiness, or home economics.

This year's scholarship will be named in memory of Lenore Allen.

The award comes with a check for $500 and is presented to San Diego residents who have completed at least one year of a four year college program or at least two years at a junior college towards a bachelor's degree.

Applicants from junior colleges also must be accepted for enrollment at a four year institution to qualify for the award.

Students also must be of high moral character and have at least a B grade point average.

The deadline for filing for the scholarships is July 1.

Written applications may be made through any member of the CowBelles or by writing Mrs. Mary Kemp, San Diego County CowBelles, P.O. Box 36, Campo, CA 92006.

The winner will be announced at the annual County CowBelles barbeque on July 23.

Dixon Pushes Crack-down on Child Abuse

The San Diego County Board of Education is urging all school personnel to vigorously pursue the reporting laws regarding suspected child abuse and neglect.

The five member county board recently adopted a resolution supporting the San Diego Jaycees in its Child Awareness activities which continue through the month of April.

Norma Hirsh, Jaycee campaign coordinator for Child Abuse Awareness, said schools and teachers interested in in-service programs on child abuse awareness may call the Jaycees office at 234-4197.

In its resolution, the board said because an awareness of the extent of the problem and of the procedures for reporting are imperative to the child's health and safety, in-service training on child abuse and neglect is to be encouraged in order to maintain awareness on the part of all professional school staff members.

Teachers and other school personnel are required by law to report suspected child abuse and neglect cases. Failure to do so could result in misdemeanor charges.

Wit, Tenderness Is in Gregson's 'Ben Hogan' Book

By S. Williams

"HOGAN, The Man Who Played For Glory," by Gene Gregston (Prentice Hall, 192 pp, $8.95).

Now comes a biography a longtime overdue, the story of Ben Hogan, perhaps the greatest golfer of all time.

It would have been nearly impossible for anybody other than San Diego Gene Gregston to do. Gregston spent a good deal of his long newspaper career covering Hogan's feats on the fairways of the world and collecting personal data on his subject. But the book had to wait until his retirement from his newspaper chores, which included editorship of both the San Diego Union and Evening Tribune.

The book wraps up Hogan's professional career and provides numerous insights into the man himself, who has always been something of a cold mystery, even to his friends.

However, despite its value to golf historians, the book is more than scholarly. It crackles with warmth, tenderness and good wit.

An example of Valerie Hogan's advice on how to sink putts. "You know how?" Ben asked. "Yes, I do," said Valerie. "Then why the hell haven't you told me? How?"

Just hit the ball a little closer to the hole," Valerie said.

Gregston has scored extremely well with his first book. The first edition sold out less than a week after it was off the presses.

Padres on Road Trip Return to SD May 9

Nine more games remain on the Padres schedule before the team returns to the Big Ball Park in San Diego to take up a 3-day battle with Chicago on May 9. Then follows Pittsburgh and St. Louis before the 9-game homestand concludes. But a road trip following is a shortie—4 games in 3 days in Cincinnati. Then back home for 3 days with L.A. Then off again.

The Padres, idle for travel today, will kick off competition against the Eastern Division with three single games with the two-time defending divisional kingpin Philadelphia Phillies Friday through Sunday.

From the City of Brotherly Love, the Padres take the short hop to Pittsburgh for three contests with the Pirates Monday through Wednesday, May 1-3. Then, to put the wraps on the whole 12-game trip, the Padres will take a break on May 4 and conclude action with three meetings with the Cardinals in St. Louis Friday through Sunday, May 5-7.

The encounters with the Cardinals will put the Padres at the halfway point in the 18-game run against the Eastern Division. The other nine affairs will take place in San Diego with the Padres hosting the Pirates and Cardinals in return engagements plus the Chicago Cubs.

"We're interested to see what those three (Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and St. Louis) have this season," manager Roger Craig said. "Philadelphia seemed to be everyone's pre-season pick to win in the East again and they are off to a good start. However, the Pirates and Cards were picked to be in contention, but both of them had relatively slow starts.

"I guess the Pirates are the real question mark. They had a tough spring and it appears their troubles have carried over to the regular season."

The early trip will mean the Century Handicap At Hollypark Sunday

Nelson Bunker Hunt's Exceller, winner of the San Juan Capistrano Handicap, heads a star-studded group of grass aces expected to go postward in the 11th running of the $100,000 Century Handicap Sunday at Hollywood Park.

The 21st running of the $40,000 Coronado Handicap Saturday, a one-mile contest on the turf, kicks off weekend stakes activity at the Inglewood Track.

After his victory on the turf at a mile and three-quarters in the San Juan Capistrano, Exceller looms as the horse to beat in the Century, a mile and three-eighths contest over the infield lawn. Exceller also annexed the Arcadia Handicap and shows wins in seven North American starts. The five-year-old son of Vaguely Noble brings lifetime earnings of more than $850,000 into the Century.

Three other eligibles, all of whom finished in the top four in the 1977 running of the Century, are expected back to battle for the title in 1978.

Padres will spend most of the month of May either at home or within the immediate Southern California area. Once the club returns home from St. Louis, the Padres will have 15 home games remaining in the month with only a quick three-day four-game visit to Cincinnati and three contests up in Los Angeles on the road schedule the rest of the way.

"May and June will be the months for us to make a move," related Craig. "Once we come back from St. Louis we'll not only have 15 of the next 22 games at home in May, but the June schedule calls for us to play 18 of 28 at home. That will give us home advantage in 33 or the next 50 games. That's the time to really get rolling."

Super Stocks, Part Two, at Cajon Track

Super stocks will be back for round two Saturday night at Cajon Speedway. And if last Saturday's twice-delayed season opener is any indication, San Diego County auto racing fans are in for another exciting season.

Last week's Esaus' will be back on hand when the popular machines go at it again on the 3/8 mile paved Gillespie Field oval at 8 with a 9-race card.

Qualifying at 6:30 will precede the two trophy dashes. Other racing action will include four 8-lap heats races, a 15-lap B-main and a 40-lap finale.

As an added attraction the first of 5 destruction derbies are divided into men's and women's event with the grand crash to the finish set for September 23, with both sexes.

Esau's win last weekend was his first since 1975 and only his fifth in his 14 year career at Cajon Speedway.

But despite taking the win, the 50-year-old driver from San Diego trails 23-year-old son Ron in the points. The younger Esau earned points which will determine the season's champion by virtue of his starting in the rear of the field last week after setting a one-lap track record in qualifying.

Soccers Host Timbers Sat. At Stadium

The S.D. Sockers follow their Wednesday night NASL game against the Houston Hurricane with a confrontation Saturday at the S.D. Stadium against the Portland Timbers. Game time is 7 p.m.

Two weeks ago the Timber suffered a 3-2 loss against the Sockers and the Timbers are ready to even the score.

San Diego's left-side full-back Brian Joy has been placed on the injured reserve list following recurring problems with his right knee. Team physicians are hoping to wait until the season's end before performing any surgery on the knee. Midfielder Hans-Peter Mielke has been signed by San Diego to offset the recent trend of injuries incurred by the Sockers. Mielke came to the United States with defender Axel Neumann, and has played German Second Division soccer with Wacker 04 in Berlin.

An exhibition game is scheduled Wednesday against Fortuna Dusseldorf and division rival California Surf comes to San Diego May 6.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

Football fans might do well for themselves by taking a page out of Charger head coach Tommy Prothro's play book.

Prothro is going shopping on Tuesday (May 2nd) and while he is assured a pretty fair shot at a blue-chip athlete, he'll probably be selecting one for the future.

The Charger mentor is on record saying he is not interested in offensive or defensive linemen, or outside line backers.

He is also rich in quarterbacks and running backs. Seems set at wide receiver and is loaded with deep backs.

And barring injury, high tide or house arrest, Tom Graham will play middle linebacker.

Prothro and company are headed into the National Football League annual dowry mart looking for talent that will fit their needs "down the road, apiece."

And early shopping might be the order of the day for Charger fans as well as their head coach. Charger tickets may be a little tough to come by this year and an early season purchase may be the difference between enjoying the games or missing the boat. There may be no inbetween.

Charger records hold that they sold 21,847 season tickets to last year's proceedings, but reports from the Charger Ticket Office show Gene Klien's favorite football team has already topped that mark and the heavy buying season is still to come.

And you'll have a ball. Despite facing the third toughest schedule in the NFL this year, and playing in the same division with Super Bowl challengers Oakland and Denver, the Chargers are looking forward to their best campaign of the last decade.

They have a tough job ahead, but their feeling is "we can do it."

Prothro's Pachyderms were 7-7 last season, their most successful campaign in nine years. Tommy's Troops split a pair with Oakland and lost two to Denver by a total of 11 points.

The Chargers lost the final game of the season by a single point against Pittsburgh. Tough schedules are old hat to Klein's crew.

And it appears the long list of "building years" have come to an end. Prothro's gladiators have matured. They're young and they've come along together. It could be they're ready. All the signs are there.

Prothro's front four of Leroy Jones, Lois Kelcher, Gary Johnson and Fred Dean set the club record with 44 sacks last year, bettering the 42 sacks set back in 1961 by Ernie Ladd and company. The Chargers ranked third in the AFC and sixth overall in the NFL in that department.

They also ranked first in the AFC in pass defense, allowing just 1,725 passing yards. And ranked second in total defense in the conference, allowing just 3,652 yards.

If defense is where it's at, the up and coming young Chargers are where they wanna be.

Monday's draft could see Prothro taking a middle line backer to bring along behind Tom Graham, who at 28 is only getting old for football. And he's got four or five years left, barring injury.

Wide receivers, running backs and defensive backs are a particularly vulnerable lot, and with the extended season coming up this year (16 games in the regular campaign and only four in the exhibition season), Charger selections could cover probable losses expected in these areas.

It all comes up Tuesday, May 2nd and follows on Wednesday until 12 rounds are made by each of the 28 NFL clubs. The Chargers pick 14th, a spot earned on their .500 season. NFL clubs make their draft selections in reverse order of the way they finished.

The Chargers and Radio KSDD will cohost a Charger Draft "Open House" at the Sports Club at San Diego Stadium beginning at 7 a.m. (10 a.m. New York draft starting time). If you're off work and off your nut about football, you're welcome to join the Charger fans and Charger Backers at Charger Draft headquarters.

Friars in Net Games Tonight and Saturday

Martina Navratilova may not have won every major tennis tournament played this winter but it certainly seems she did.

And when she arrives with the talent-plus Boston Lobsters to play the Friars in the Sports Arena tonight Navratilova will be fighting a losing record.

Against San Diego's Kerry Reid, whom she will face tonight in singles, she compiled a losing record in World Team Tennis last season. She dropped two of three matches and trails Kerry in games, 37-36, during her WTT career.

Although Reid's edge hardly is decisive, it is impressive in comparison with Navratilova's recent heroics, the Virginia Slims championship, the Bridgestone championship (doubles) and the far-in-front money winner among the women.

Furthermore, Reid's efforts last year was against a Navratilova who was a WTT stand-out. She was the league's leading women's singles player, displacing Chris Evert, with a 217-126 game won-lost mark, and paired with Greer Stevens outdistanced doubles teams with a 237-123 record.

After the Lobsters tonight, the Friars host the Seattle Cascades with Wimbledon finalist Betty Stove on Saturday. Seattle also features Marita Redondo, the Chula Vista resident who performed so well this past winter.

Player-coach Tom Gorman, telecasts, a fine all-around performer, has added significant doubles strength to his lineup with the acquisition of Sherwood Stewart, the fourth ranking American doubles player.

Both matches begin at 7:30 p.m. and excellent tickets in all price categories are available at the Friars ticket office at the Sports Arena and at several handy locations throughout San Diego County.

Racquet Tournament To Draw Best Players

The idea of the $40,000 World Racquets Championship May 6 at the Atlas Health Club in Mission Valley is to have the best players from different racquet sports participate in a round robin competition in every sport but their own.

Guillermo Vilas is representing tennis. Marty Hogan will handle the honors for racquetball. Champions for table tennis and badminton soon will be announced after deliberation as to their qualifications is completed.

But the selection of the squash representative to the Vitalis sponsored event was immediately clear. You mention Sharif Kahn to a squash enthusiast and the case is closed. He's by far the best.

Kahn, 33, and now a teaching pro in Toronto, proved his versatility with several racquets last year by winning this championship, which offers $15,000 as a first prize. He excels in tennis and is sharp in both badminton and table tennis, which along with racquetball will be the sports contested at the Atlas.

Kahn has two brothers and one cousin who are world class squash players but the "Kahn" talent is as extensive as it is formidable.

"In all there are about 50 players named Kahn," says the dark-eyed, mustachioed Sharif. "They come from about 10 families, but it all started with my father."

Red-Black Game Saturday Ends Aztec Grid Drills

Spring football drills at S.D. State U. will close out Saturday when the Varsity meets the Alumni in the annual Red vs. Black game in Aztec Bowl on campus.

Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

As usual the Alumni squad has assembled a star-studded team with many of State's pro players participating in the game.

The Alumni has gotten at least tentative responses from quarterbacks Brian Sipe of the Cleveland Browns, Dennis Shaw of the Kansas City Chiefs, Craig Penrose of the Denver Broncos and ex-San Diego Charger Jesse Freits.

Also tentatively set are wide receiver Haven Moses of the Broncos, defensive end Fred Dryer of the Los Angeles Rams, defensive back Nate Wright of the Minnesota Vikings, defensive back Willie Buchanan of the Green Bay Packers, offensive lineman Claude Minor of the Broncos and kicker Benny Ricardo of the Detroit Lions.

Offensive lineman Herb Dobbins of the Edmonton Eskimos is slated to play with ex-pros Tom Reynolds, Martin Imhof, Tom Nettles, Billie Hayes, Jerry Mendenhall, and Tim Delaney.

The Alumni coaches this year are ex-Aztec coach Don Coryell, who will be making his first appearance on campus since leaving the Aztecs to coach the St. Louis Cardinals in 1973, and Dr. George Brown, former Navy All-American and long-time San Diego State team doctor.

"Everyone always talks about the pro players we'll have in the game," said Alumni co-ordinator Mike Meagher, "but what excites me is that we have several of last year's Aztecs slated to play for the Alumni. We think we can make a game of it this year."

Nose tackle Ed Iino, line-backers Lew Chumich and Ricker Orange, wide receiver Ken Mathis, quarterback Joe Davis, offensive tackle John Marsala and running back Binky Benton of the 1977 Aztec team are set to play.

As for the Varsity, they are set to play. "We look forward to this game every year," said

Although Sharif has been the dominant force in squash for the last decade, he has yet to overshadow the reputation of his father. Born in Pakistan near the Khyber Pass, Hashim Kahn now is a pro in Denver and is considered the "father" of the sport. It is because of him that squash is the national sport of Pakistan.

"When my father reached 35, he decided he had reached his peak and he started teaching his family all he knew," Sharif says. "My father is a great player and teacher, but I think there must be more to it than that. I think there must be something in the Kahn blood."

Although he left Pakistan at 11 for England, Sharif credits his native country with instilling in him a "striving for excellence."

"When I was in Pakistan, I had to be hardy and tough," he says. "It was a harsh life and one that taught you never to give up. Today I am motivated by family pride. Playing has become a matter of upholding the tradition set by my father."

The elder Kahn and two of Sharif's brothers will attend the San Diego event. Tickets for the World Racquets Championship are $7 and admit to the entire competition in every sport. Tickets may be purchased at the Atlas Health Club or by mail, write World Racquets Championship, 901 Hotel Circle South, Mission Valley San Diego.

Amateur Hockey League to Start

An Amateur Pacific Hockey Program for youngsters 5-19 has been programmed for the period between June and September.

Ice time has been promised for APHP players at skate facilities at Mira Mesa, El Cajon and La Mesa Houses of Ice and Ice Capades Chalet in La Jolla.

APHP is divided into 6 divisions: Mighty Mites, Squirts, Peepees, Bantams, Midgets and Juniors with the La Mesa facility restricted for Mighty Mites only.

Football Draft Opens on Tuesday Chargers Have 1, 2, 3, 5 thru 12

The San Diego Chargers are scheduled to select the 14th player in the first round of the National League's forty-third annual draft of collegiate football players, beginning at 7 a.m. (PDT) Tuesday. The draft is expected to conclude late Wednesday afternoon after 12 rounds and 336 selections.

The Chargers have 12 choices, including picks in the first, second, third, and fifth through twelfth rounds. They have two fifth-round selections, theirs and the Los Angeles Rams'. The latter was received in the trade that sent center Ed Flanagan from San Diego to Los Angeles in 1977. The Chargers do not have a fourth-round choice, having traded the selection to St. Louis for free safety Clarence Duren in 1977.

The Chargers will alternate with Atlanta and St. Louis on selections 13, 14, and 15 in each round. The teams tied with 7-7 records in 1977. The ties were resolved by the NFL by computing the aggregate won-lost percentage of each involved team's regular-season opponents and awarding preferential selection order to the club which faced the schedule of teams with the lowest aggregate won-lost percentage.

Atlanta's 1977 opponents posted a combined record of 88-108 (.449). The Chargers' opponents were 106-90 (.541). St. Louis' opponents were 107-89 (.546).

The Chargers' complete selections include numbers 14, 41, 71, 125, 137, 155, 182, 209, 239, 266, 293, and 323. By comparison, their selections in 1977 (when the Chargers did not have second- or fourth-round choices) were numbers 24, 77, 124, 128, 146, 151, 181, 234, 265, and 319.

Chargers President Eugene V. Klein, head coach Tommy Prothro, general manager Johnny Sanders, and members of the scouting and coaching staffs will participate in the draft from a conference room in San Diego Stadium.

A Chargers representative will receive San Diego's choices by telephone in the grand ballroom of the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, where NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle will conduct the draft. Fifteen minutes will be allowed for selections by each team in the first two rounds. Five minutes will be allowed for all rounds thereafter and no round will begin after 6 p.m. (PDT).

The composition of the Chargers' roster reflects drafting expertise that has been apparent since Prothro was appointed by Klein in January, 1974. Prothro participated in the 1974 draft but not with the personal knowledge of the collegiate crop; he had been out of football in 1973.

Since 1975, the Chargers have reaped a harvest. Eight draftees each from '75, '76, and '77 are on the roster. The Chargers' 1975 draft has been described as one of the finest in NFL history.

Midgets to Try Again at S.B.

The midget auto racing season in San Diego County will get a third opportunity to get started Saturday night at South Bay Park Speedway 117 after being halted twice by rainouts.

However, promoter Don Basile said the delay should be to the track's advantage because his crew has had more time to prepare a good track for this one.

Gates open at 6 p.m. Time trials are set for 7 p.m. and the first of two trophy dashes is set for the starter's flag at 8 p.m. The midgets—figuring to be some 35 strong—will share the program with the streets stockers of the South Bay Racing Association.

Figuring to head the list of midget entries will be former USRC champion Roy Cook Jr., a Long Beach driver who won last week at Corona in a new Chevy II-powered car.

Bantamweights Top Five-Bout Coliseum Card

A 10-round bantamweight scrap headlines Friday's card at the S.D. Coliseum.

Ramon Aguinaga of Tijuana is matched against Daryl "P-Man" Jones of L.A. Aguinaga has made two previous appearances at the Coliseum and was a crowd-pleaser both outings. Jones is a veteran and should make his opponent extend himself.

Ricky Weigel of Pasadena returns in a match-up with Troy Vaughn of L.A. Weigel attracted favorable attention in previous fights at the Coliseum with his unusual punching power. They're middleweights and they will go 8 rounds—or less.

Heavyweights Rick Mills of Hollywood faces Lynn Ball of Santa Ana in a 4-rounder while Rudolph Ambris of San Diego meets the tough, popular National City flash, Kid Meza in a 4-round lightweight encounter.

The gong sounds at 8:15. Women, accompanied or not, are admitted free. Youngsters are free but must be accompanied by an adult.

The Coliseum is at 15th and E streets in downtown San Diego.

Harness Race Season Ends at LosAl Saturday

LOS ALAMITOS—The seventh annual harness racing season at Los Alamitos Race Course is set to conclude Saturday night, but not before one fan drives away with a $16,000 gold Cadillac Seville.

The final week of racing in the Southern California Racing Assn. meeting will feature six nights of action, Monday through Saturday, with a 7:45 post time. A pair of $2 Exactas and three $5 Exactas are provided in each nine race program.

A drawing will be held tonight for the 1978 Cadillac Seville and the winner will be the proud owner of the $16,000 automobile. Entry blanks have been available at the track every Thursday during the season and fans will have another opportunity to register for the car on the night of the drawing.

Odd Battles on Tuesday Night Wrestling Card

It'll be truly a ladies night Tuesday at the Coliseum where professional wrestling is conducted every week.

For the first 200 ladies, promoter Danny Millsap will provide flowers. Since he is operator of a wholesale flower firm, the flowers should be unusually attractive.

He has also arranged to have a pair of women professional wrestlers on the card. Ukie Bara of Japan will meet Sonya Sanchez of Guatemala. Women, it is said, make better wrestlers than their male counterparts.

Other unusualities will be a cage battle with Outlaw Ron Bass caged with Shavo Guerrero. The first one out of the 8-ft. high steel cage is declared the winner.

Then there is an American Title match offered by no less than the National Wrestling Association. This one has Moondog Mayne challenging Hector Guerrero.

The final oddity is a six-man tag team match. Roddy Piper, Goliath and Little David on one side with Black Gorman, Terry Sawyer and Alex Perez as their antagonists.

It all starts at 8:15. The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. in downtown S.D.

May 5 would be added to the ESEA and distributed for at least 30 days before the ESEA/EIR is certified and approved.

"The task force was directed to coordinate with CPO, cities and other agencies to further identify and assess implication of these problems and make appropriate recommendations to the Board of Supervisors by May 5, 1978."

And the next day:

"A growth management conference has been scheduled by the San Diego County Board of Supervisors in conjunction with the City of San Diego's City Council and representatives of the county's cities.

"The open public conference has been set for 7 p.m., May 4, in the Copper Room of the Convention and Performing Arts Center, 202 "C" st., in San Diego.

"The conference will focus on the relationship of the County's and Cities' growth management plans. Brief progress reports will be presented, giving updates on both growth management programs.

"Conference co-moderators are Lucille V. Moore, chairwoman of the Board of Supervisors; and City of San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson.

"The public is invited to speak, which will be followed with a general discussion.

"Dave Nielsen, director of the County's regional growth management program, will present the impact analysis results of the plan. Andrew Schaeffli, supervising planner in the City of San Diego's planning department, transportation division, will report on the City's progress. Nielsen and Schaeffli will also show the relationship between the City's and County's growth management plans."

Not only can it happen here, it is happening now.

"And all of this against the backdrop of experienced people who for years under the County Water Authority satisfactorily operated 23 water agencies. Said one agency executive, "The people are happy with the present services of the agencies—only the supervisors are not. Supervisors have no water delivery experience. Not only that, some of the other services they are paid to provide aren't meeting the people's needs. Playing with our water supply is a life and death game. If the people knew what could happen, they'd be deeply upset."

Now they know!

Outdoors & Travel

By E. L. "Buck" Rogers

I release most of my fish because I am more interested in the sport of fishing than getting meat for the skillet.

This is a wise practice, too. Biologists 20 years ago told us that "you can't fish a lake out," but what they didn't tell us was that you can take out most of the trophy-sized gamefish and seriously damage a body of water as a sports fishery thereafter. So releasing fish does make sense. If all of us practiced it to some extent, waters subject to heavy fishing pressure would continue to be productive.

But, like everyone else, a certain amount of technique is involved. Release a fish the wrong way and you'll kill it as certainly as you will be leaving it on the stringer. Release it right and this same fish will create sport for anglers for many years.

Here are the most common causes of mortality in released gamefish:

1—Injury during the un-

hooking process.

—Improper handling during the release process.

3—Disease resulting from excessive removal of mucus.

4—Stress resulting from the fight and improper handling.

5—Swim bladder injury resulting from changing depth too rapidly.

6—Lactic acid buildup.

Of these reasons for mortality the first three are the most important and are ones you can do something about.

For instance, the best way to land a catch is not to land it at all. With a pair of long nose pliers, which every fisherman should carry at all times, grasp the hook and shake the fish off without touching it or removing it all the way from the water.

A landing net is a good way to hold a fish without injuring it and is particularly effective with slippery species like trout. Again, unhook quickly and return to the water as soon as possible.

If a fish is hooked so securely it is necessary to grasp it to remove the hook, do so properly. Grasp bass and crappie by the lower jaw. This partially paralyzes them and makes the process easier. Toothed fish like pike and walleye can be grasped behind the head, with fingers clasp the gill covers.

If a fish is hooked deeply with a single hook it may be better to cut off the leader and make the release with the hook still embedded in the gullet or gills. Such hooks will work themselves loose or cyst over in a short time.

One more thing. At a recent Braniff Outdoor Council seminar on this subject, we determined that the temperature of the water has a great deal to do with survival of released fish. A bass taken from a Texas lake in mid-summer can only live for seconds out of water. Pike taken from a cold Canadian lake can survive for several minutes before damage occurs.

Good fishing, and remember that if all of us release a few for tomorrow our kids may have fishing as good as we do today.

Aztec Cagers Sign 7 Year Arena Pact

SDSU's Athletic Department has signed a seven-year agreement with the San Diego Sports Arena for basketball.

Beginning in 1978-79 the Aztecs will play their entire regular season home schedule at the Cabrillo Classic in the arena.

"San Diego State is excited about joining hands with the San Diego Sports Arena in making a combined long term commitment to NCAA Division I basketball," said State Athletic Director Ken Karr.

"We are very happy to know that our home will be in the arena," said Aztec basketball coach Tim Vezie. "The arena is where our program belongs."

Last year the Aztecs played their entire home schedule at the arena and posted a 12-1 mark in the building. The only loss was 80-79 to Arizona.

Judge Dan Leedy

Judge Leedy Cites 15 Years Service In Reelection Run

Judge Dan Leedy has begun his campaign for re-election to Superior Court in San Diego County, where he has served since his appointment in 1970.

"To be an impartial judge, you have to have experience and understanding," Leedy says. "I have been both a prosecuting attorney and a defense lawyer, and I have been a judge for more than 15 years." Leedy says he is concerned about the increasing cost of delivering justice in courts that are overburdened with cases. Leedy feels that offenders must be sentenced with strict regard for the seriousness of their crime and that cases should be decided promptly.

After his appointment to the Superior Court in 1970 Judge Leedy was elected to the office in 1972. Previously he had been Judge of the Encinitas Justice Court from 1959 to 1962 and of the North San Diego County Municipal Court from 1962 to 1970. Leedy was a Deputy District Attorney for Los Angeles County before starting private practice in Encinitas in 1955.

Hilman Leads In Plebescite Among Lawyers

A San Diego attorney, Richard T. Hilman, Jr., won the approval of the S.D. Trial Lawyers Assn. in a plebescite conducted among 800 of their members.

Hilman, running against incumbent Superior Court Judge Daniel C. Leedy of Department 5, got 140 votes. Leedy got 135. Sherwood Roberts received 43 votes.

Voting was conducted by mail on ballots similar to those used at the polls. 369 attorneys indicated their choice.

In the race for Superior Court Department 7, Municipal Court Judge David M. Gill received 264 votes; Municipal Court Judge J. Robert O'Connor, 57; William H. Kennedy, 31 and George Benedict, 16.

The trial lawyers cast 209 votes for Municipal Court Judge Gerald Lewis in balloting for the Superior Court department 14 seat; Municipal Court Judge Robert J. Cooney, 124 and Floyd Morrow, 30.

Votes were tallied by Ludecke and SDTLA vice presidents Maurice Boudreau and Maynard Kartved.

Prior to receiving ballots, the trial lawyers heard brief presentations by the candidates at a March 23 dinner meeting.

SDTLA president Alan J. Ludecke said, "We are gratified that we had such a large turnout by mail. This shows the interest of trial lawyers in the judicial races this year."

The postponement came about in order to give the company time to prepare and circulate a revised preliminary prospectus to investors with additional information about the Sundesert Nuclear Plant.

SDG&E spokesmen said the Securities and Exchange Commission indicated it wanted investors to have more time to review and digest the complex-

Illegal Alien Problem Is Scandalous Says Davis

"The crushing flood of illegal aliens coming into California has made a mockery of our governmental assistance programs and is raping our state of tax dollars, jobs, and welfare benefits."

The statement was made by Ed Davis, the leading candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, speaking before a press conference he called at the Department of Immigration and Naturalization Border Post in San Ysidro.

"This is a scandal that poses immediate danger to all Californians, and we can thank the current state administration for decisive non-action," added Davis.

"The Governor and the highest state enforcement officials must be blamed. These people see the problem and yet are either intimidated or are simply unwilling to remove the canre," Davis remarked. "It is ridiculous to simply sit back and watch the undermining of our job market and increasing welfare rolls," added Davis.

Davis acknowledged the need for non-citizen immigrants in a limited capacity by way of controlled work programs, but expressed outrage at the current lack of state government control over the matter.

Rock Concert To Aid Museum

KCBQ will sponsor an all-day rock concert this summer for the benefit of the Aerospace Museum's restoration effort and for the Combined Arts and Education Council of San Diego County (COMBO), according to KCBQ general manager, Mike Stafford.

The benefit concert is scheduled August 20 in San Diego Stadium and will feature "a full line-up of some of the biggest name entertainers in rock music."

"KCBQ is pleased to sponsor this first annual 'Spirit of San Diego' concert," said Stafford. "The idea is the result of a community-wide effort and will bring together fans of both rock music and two of San Diego's most valuable cultural institutions. We expect to raise tens of thousands of dollars for these two worthy causes, and it's certain to be the top rock happening of the year."

KCBQ is currently negotiating with famous recording artists and groups in the U. S.

Water Softener Discharge Banned In County Sewers

Action has been taken by the County of San Diego to prevent water softener discharge into County sanitation district sewers.

An ordinance designed to prevent this discharge has been adopted with a unanimous vote by the Board of Supervisors. Supervisors, acting as the Board of Directors for certain sanitation district, also approved prohibition of installing self-regenerating water softener units.

Various areas of the county are already governed by similar ordinances and a staff investigation has been ordered by Supervisors to insure that these ordinances are being enforced.

The sanitation districts which fall under this new ordinance include Pine Valley, Julian, Ramona, Whispering Palms and Rancho Santa Fe. The ordinance establishes prohibition of discharge of water softener brines into the sewers.

A five-year time limit was set under the ordinance for removal of self-regenerating water softener units in these districts.

An amendment to the County Code was approved by Supervisors which prohibits water softener plumbing permits in the above districts.

A recent study indicates that when water softener brines are discharged into public sewers, wastewater quality is significantly degraded by the increased salt content.

As a result, water reclamation projects are adversely affected, including irrigation of crops such as avocados and strawberries.

Twins Contest On Fair Agenda

A twins contest, scheduled Saturday, July 1, during the 89th annual Southern California Exposition at Del Mar, is drawing considerable early interest, Jo Jordan, Special Events Coordinator, said.

The contest, open to twins living in San Diego County will be sponsored by San Diego Federal in cooperation with the Expo.

There will be two categories, the most alike and the least alike pairs of twins between the ages of three and 18 years of age. Age groups will be broken down. These will be three to six years of age, seven to 12 years of age, and 13 to 18 years of age.

The most alike category will have divisions for identical boys, identical girls, fraternal boys, fraternal girls, and boy and girl twins.

First entries include Joshua and Jeffrey Gregson, 4, Lakeside, identical twins; Roger and James Cornelius, 8, El Cajon, identical; and Kelly and Kimberly Northcutt, 11, El Cajon, least alike. San Diego entries include Jeffrey and Gregory Brady, 4, identical; Tammy and Toni Gregory, 11, identical; Richard and Robert Wasilewski, 5, identical; Aaron and Daymon Jones, 3, fraternal; Kristine and Elizabeth May, 12, fraternal; and Dena and Anna Borthfeld, 5, fraternal.

Kuhn Raps Tax Change On Sports Tickets
The Carter Administration's proposed tax legislation, which would deny business entertainment deductions for the purchase of sports tickets, has the devastating potential, "to turn each of our profitable clubs into a losing club" and lead to sizeable ticket price increases which could decrease the demand to the point "one must doubt the ability of the baseball business to survive."

These were the warnings of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in an appearance before the House Ways and Means Committee recently. Kuhn charged the proposed reform would "overturn well established tax procedures by specially denying these deductions under circumstances where deductions would otherwise be available because of the existence of a proper business purpose."

Rains Produce Surplus But No Rate Drops

The recent rains have created such a reservoir of water the State Water Project is now promising they can deliver more water than contracting water agencies need for 1978.

Deliveries will top out at about 1.4 million acre feet, or about half a million acre feet more than was requested by water districts.

Yet, according to a spokesman for the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, parent agency to the local Helix and Otay Water Districts, the chances of a reduction in water rates is remote.

Sheriff's Calls For Reserves Again

With two months to go before the Sheriff's Law Enforcement Reserve Academy convenes, a call for volunteers has been issued by Sheriff F. Duffy.

"We get a lot of volunteers, but the calibre of person required, the intensive training and the volunteer work expected cause a lot of the would be reserve deputies to fall by the wayside before a class even begins," Duffy said.

To let would-be reservists know what is involved, a briefing will be held at 7 p.m. tonight in the Jury Lounge at 222 West "C" st., S.D.

"Members of the law enforcement reserves are fully trained peace officers when they graduate from our academy. They work right alongside regular deputies and often man patrol cars on their own," Sheriff Duffy said.

"People select different ways to do volunteer work for their communities, but there is no greater demand for dedication and no greater feeling of satisfaction than serving as a Reserve Deputy Sheriff" he said.

To be eligible the men and women volunteers must be between 21 and 40 years old in good health a permanent resident of San Diego County and not have been convicted of a felony or serious misdemeanor.

The training is not easy the pay is zero and the reserves must purchase their own uniforms and sidearm.

"Those accepted will begin an academy on June 14th. They will attend classes two nights a week study at home and the successful ones will graduate in eight months. After that they will be prepared to begin helping protect the lives and property of the citizens of this county" Duffy said.

Demos Plot Programs For Mid-Term Confab

The California Democratic Party has begun laying the groundwork for selection of delegates to the National Democratic Party's Mid-Term Conference slated for early December in Memphis. Democrats from throughout California will be eligible to run for election to the conference at caucuses which will be held on September 17 in each of California's 43 Congressional Districts.

Two delegates — one man and one woman — are to be elected at each of the caucuses.

An additional 13 delegates will be selected two weeks after the caucuses to assure that the California delegation is in compliance with Democratic National Committee affirmative action guidelines.

An Affirmative Action Plan has been adopted by the California Democratic Party and submitted to the National Party's Compliance Review Commission, according to Bert Coffey, State Chairman of the California Democratic Party. The plan sets up a California Affirmative Action Committee which is headed by Los Angeles attorney, Peter Kelly.

The Affirmative Action Plan is aimed at increasing the participation of minority groups, Native Americans, the disabled, elderly and young people in Democratic Party activities.

In each Congressional District in California, the State Party has appointed Affirmative Action Chairs who are responsible for forming steering committees which will insure broad participation in the delegate selection process.

March of Dimes Not to Withdraw

Rumors circulated in some newspapers that the March of Dimes intends to withdraw its grant support in the field of genetics have been refuted by a local March of Dimes spokesman.

According to Robert Caldwell, chairman of the San Diego-Imperial Beach chapter, a decision was only made to phase out genetic service programs, not research in genetics.

New applications for genetic service programs are expected to be given equal consideration with all other grant applications.

More Air Conditioning Promised at G'mont

Grossmont Hospital has added 320 tons of cooling capacity to its air cooling system.

The expansion was needed to keep up with additions to the hospital.

Within the past year the hospital opened a five-story wing and two rehabilitation units.

The hospital regularly operates at a high level of occupancy and was finding it difficult to sufficiently cool all of the areas.

A new air cooled centrifac system was put into service on March 21 and cools the air through the use of freon gas.

The system will now have a combined total of 1250 tons of cooling capacity.

Ask Your C.H.P.

C.H.P. Capt. C. M. Douglas.

Last week Captain Douglas told an inquirer horses were considered as vehicles according to California law.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save you a citation or it could even save your life.

Address your questions in care of this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:
I drive a pick-up with a cab over camper. I would like to know the law regarding passengers.

Answer:

On a conventional camper, passengers cannot be transported in the camper unit unless two criteria are met: 1) an unobstructed exit must be available that can be opened from the interior of the vehicle and 2) the passengers must be able to gain the driver's attention either visually (by a window between the cab and the camper) or audibly (by an intercom system or boot between cab and camper).

In many cases of traffic accidents involving a camper, the camper becomes disengaged from the truck bed. Thus, campers are not always the safest means to transport passengers.

Gas Use Increases To Record 11.3 Billion

California motorists burned more than a record 11.3 billion gallons of gasoline in 1977, 5.3 percent more than in 1976 and 10.7 percent more than in 1975.

Over 980 million gallons were distributed in December alone, a record amount for that month. State fuel tax for December was $68.55 million.

Gasoline consumption could be reduced nationwide by 45 percent if all gasoline powered vehicles were to get 25 miles a gallon instead of the current average level of 14. Such a reduction would cut annual oil imports from 2.7 to 1.6 billion barrels and lessen the deficit in America's balance of payments.

List of Fed $$$ Given by Wilson

WASHINGTON — U. S. Rep. Bob Wilson's Washington office announces that the following government contracts and grants were awarded to San Diego area interests during the period of March 10 through March 24.

$1,170,000 from the Navy to the UCSD for research in the general field of marine environmental acoustics.
